

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PART I.

LONDON:

J. B. NICHOLS AND SON, PARLIAMENT STREET :
WILLIAM PICKERING, CHANCERY LANE.

At a meeting of the COUNCIL of the SURTEES SOCIETY, on the fourth day of December, 1834, it was

RESOLVED—That four hundred copies of a Selection from unpublished WILLS AND INVENTORIES of all Classes of Persons from the Eleventh Century downwards, illustrating the History, Manners, Language, Statistics, &c., of their respective Periods, to be made and transcribed under the superintendence of the Secretary, be printed by the Society.

JAMES RAINE,

SECRETARY.

P R E F A C E.

“ THERE are two entire classes of public records, both highly important, which I am conscious have been but imperfectly used—I mean the Inquisitions Post Mortem and the early Wills.—Of the early Wills we do not possess even a printed catalogue of the names of Testators, much more any work which should communicate to the public the choicer portions of the information, topographical, historical, biographical, literary, which is lurking, unseen by every eye, in the dispersed, the dark and dusty depositories of the testamentary evidence of England. I am persuaded, by experience in such enquiries, that there is no department of antiquarian research, topography, public or literary history, lives of our eminent men in every department, manners, language, which would not be essentially benefited by a publication of matter, which to an experienced eye would appear of importance, in Wills of the Plantagenet, Tudor, and Stuart reigns, while a better acquaintance with these evidences would be the creation of a new world in our gentilitial Antiquities.”

The preceding remarks, made by the Rev. Joseph Hunter, in the Preface to the second Volume of his History of the Deanery of Doncaster, induced the Council of the Surtees Society to turn their attention to such early Wills and Inventories as are preserved in the Registry of the Diocese of Durham, illustrative of the public and private history, language, statistics, &c. &c. of the Northern Counties of England; and the present volume is the result of their investigation. In the earlier part of the volume, many new and valuable documents are brought to light, from which the public or local historian may derive the most novel and correct information. That these are not more numerous is owing to frequent chasms in the Registry, occasioned by time or neglect. Those early Wills and Inventories, however, which have presented themselves, and which are now (thanks to public spirit and the press) secure against the attacks of time or accident,* are of sufficient importance to throw great light upon their respective periods, and to excite the Members of the Society to investigate more minutely and effectually this most copious, and hitherto almost entirely unexplored, source of correct public or private information. The early Registers of the Archbishops of York abound with documents of this nature, of the particulars of which almost nothing whatever is known, save the appointed burial place of each individual Testator. To ascertain this trifling fact, Torr, the Historian of York, and the Compiler of much valuable information relative to the Diocese and Province at large, still in M.S., seems to have examined them, one after another, with great care, closing his eyes, however, to the clear light which they could throw upon the men and manners of the four first centuries after the Conquest. The time, it may be hoped, is not far distant, when they will be examined again, and with greater anxiety, not to ascertain the burial place of an individual, but as being themselves the burial place of much of the history, general and personal—and in this may be included every other kind of correct information relative to times and things—of all classes of men, over the widely-extending Province of York.

* A Registrar of the Consistory Court of Durham, during the first half of the last century, was in the habit of lighting his pipe with one of the Wills under his charge, and of glorying in his deed. "Here goes the Testator," was his usual exclamation when he was so employed. Things are not so now.

Soon after the year 1500, the Durham Series of Wills begins to be almost entirely perfect ; and from that period downwards, as there has been no lack of matter for selection, so the utmost care has been taken to make such a selection as might best carry into effect the objects of the Society. Men of all classes, who have been forgotten for centuries, again appear, and afford the most minute and authentic information, not only relative to themselves and the rank in society which they occupied in their day, but numerous other incidental, and therefore the more valuable, notices and materials for an accurate history of the language and manners of our ancestors.

A few Wills, &c. have been obtained from other sources than the Durham Registry, and a few, which have been already before the public in substance, are reprinted, either at length, when such was not the case before, or are now, for the first time, given accurately, and with a due regard to that most important point, the phraseology of their respective periods, which had been previously either occasionally unattended to, or totally disregarded. Under the former class may be enumerated

Nº. XV. [SURTEES, II. 381]; and under the latter, Nº. XVIII. [SURTEES], XXXIII. [MADDOX FORM.] XLVIII. [SURTEES], LI. [ID.], LII. [ANTIQ. REP. and WHIT. RICHM.], LV. [BOURNE'S NEWC. and HODGS. NORTHUMB.]

It has been above remarked, that this source of information has been hitherto almost entirely unexplored. County historians have occasionally availed themselves of the wills of our ancestors, but it has been chiefly for the purpose of ascertaining descent of pedigree and estate. Mr. Surtees has, in his History of Durham, gone a step further than this. He has frequently used these documents in illustration of the rise and fall of families of importance connected with the county of Durham.— Again, in the year 1826, two volumes of Wills, illustrating manners, customs, descent of blood and property, &c., from the reign of HENRY II. to the accession of ELIZABETH, were collected by Sir Nicholas Harris Nicolas, chiefly from printed authorities, and enriched by much valuable preliminary observation, and many useful explanatory and genealogical notes: but the document is rarely given to the public in its original language or phraseology; the Latin Wills are translated; the early English Wills are frequently printed in a modern garb; the accompanying Inventories are seldom if ever noticed; and neither their Editor nor Mr. Surtees, nor any other county historian, has even attempted to make the Wills and Inventories of the middle and lower ranks contribute their share of information to the general stock of historical and social knowledge.

The Council of the Surtees Society have been careful to keep all these matters in view. They have attended to every minute characteristic of time and rank, of language and statistics, of religious feeling and domestic economy ; and if they have only brought the present volume down to the year 1580, it is because the matter to which they have access, intervening between that year and the period of the Restoration, is of such great importance, as, in their opinion, to demand a volume even of a larger size than the present. On this subject the Council refer to the Report for the present year ; and, in the mean time, they announce that communications from Members of the Society, or others, illustrative of the history, public or private, of the philology, statistics, &c. &c., of the present volume, will be gladly received by the Secretary.

¹ John Fitz Marmaduke, Lord of Horden, in the parish of Eastington, descended from a nephew of Bishop Flambard, and the "true cher Bachelor" of Bishop Beck. Fitz Marmaduke, at the time of his death, was governor of St. John's Town [Perth.] in Scotland, under Edward II., and, according to a custom then not uncommon, his attendants, finding it impossible to comply with that clause in his will which enjoined his sepulture at Durham, literally boiled his dead body in a large cauldron, and preserved his bones till an opportunity of burying them in the Cathedral-yard of Durham presented itself. The whole of this strange proceeding is given in the following singular record enjoining a penance upon the agents in the transaction, and now for the first time printed.

Sicut nobis fuit expositum, quondam Johannes dictus Marmeduk miles, vestræ diocæses, in obsequiis illustris Principis Regis Angliæ ad custodiam villæ Sancti Johannis in Scociâ extiterat deputatus, corporeâ infirmitate gravatus suum condidit ultimum testamentum ac — corpus suum in cimiterio Dunolmiensis Ecclesiæ tumulari precepit. *Eo autem — exspirante ibidem, Executores — ac nonnulli familiares ipsius nobilis, cupientes ut — corpus ejus in dicto sepeliretur cimiterio, considerantes corpus — ibidem propter loci distanciam et hostium periculosas insidias integrum posse minime deportari, corpus — frustatim concidentes illud aquis immerseverunt ignibus dequoquendum, ac carnis tegumento excusso ab ossibus ossa ipsa hucusque retinuerunt ibidem — non sepulta, ignorantes penitus constitutionis editæ contra tales. Cumque postmodum iidem executores et familiares Peritorum assercione sui excessûs noticiam apprehenderunt, supplicari fecerunt humiliter — nos igitur volens pœnitentibus pœnitenciam non negare — auctoritate domini Papæ cujus pœnitentiariæ curam gerimus, vestræ circumspectioni committimus quatenus eisdem executores et familiares — ab eadem sententiâ absolvatis, et injungatis — pœnitenciam salutarem — ac ossa predicti defuncti faciatis in dicto Dunelm. The Executors were Sir Henry Fitzhugh and Sir Thomas de Wythbworth, Knights. Of the above inventory the greater part has been printed by Mr. Surtees. Vol. II., p. 381, but in a contracted, and therefore to the general reader an almost unintelligible form. As it has been deemed indispensable in a collection of this nature, the whole is now given free from contractions. The information which it affords relative to the armour and the domestic economy of the period, the prices of cattle, grain, &c. &c., is most authentic and valuable.

Richard fitz Marmaduke, the son of the above John, was Senescal to Bishop Beaumont, and was murdered upon Framwellgate Bridge, by Robert Neville, of Raby, in 1318.

XXVII. TESTAMENTUM JOHANNIS DE COUPLAND.²

[Reg. HATFIELD, .]

In nomine Summæ et Individuæ Trinitatis, Patris Filii et Spiritus Sancti, Amen. Ego Johannes de Coupland, de mandato Domini nostri Regis Angliæ jam ad partes longinquas

¹ Sir Wm. de Felton was possessed of large estates in Northumberland, and was much employed by King Edward III. in the military services of the Borders. In 1333 and 1336 he was commanded to array the men of North Tynedale. In 1336 he occurs as Constable of Roxburgh Castle and Sheriff of that county, offices which he held for some time afterwards. In 1343, a pension of £20 per annum for his services was granted to him and his heirs, to be paid out of the Customs of Newcastle. His name occurs in the Scotch Rolls for the last time, 16th May, 1347, when he was constituted Justiciary of those parts of Scotland in the possession of England. Whilst Constable of Roxburgh, he expended £2,386 12s. 4d. of the public money in the repairs of the Castle. Hatf. f. 151.

² The identical person who took David, King of Scotland, prisoner at the battle of Neville's Cross. "Iste Cowpland (says a marginal note opposite to the will, in the hand-writing of Roger Dodsworth,) took the King of Skotts nyghe Durham." Coupland did not, as has been stated, here first emerge from obscurity. He was by birth a man of rank and property. In 1339, seven years iturus, tempus reditus mei ad partes istas penitus ignorando, et quicquid ante regressum meum michi evenire contigerit, de bonis meis ordino, et testamentum meum nuncupatorium condo in hunc modum. In primis lego animum meam Deo omnipo-before the battle of Neville's Cross, his services upon the Borders had obtained for him a pension of £20 per annum, out of the manor of Edrington, in Berwickshire. Twice in 1343 and again in 1344, he was a Commissioner of Truce or Array: but greater rewards and honours awaited him. Ralph states, without giving his authority, that, for his services upon the field of Durham, he received a pension of £500 per annum. The Rotuli Scotie, after this period, make frequent mention of his name, first as Constable of Roxburgh Castle and Sheriff of the Shire, next as "Custos" of Berwick upon Tweed, and then as Constable and Sheriff of Roxburgh again. In 1353, he held, among his other offices, the Shrievalty of Northumberland, and in that capacity, by a singular condescension, received at Newcastle David, King of Scotland, on his road home, after a captivity of seven long years. He died before 26th Jan., 1364. The preamble to his will alludes to some distant expedition which he was upon the point of undertaking, and it would appear that the time allowed him for making the necessary preparation was extremely limited, as he merely makes a nuncupative disposition of his effects. The Rotuli Scotie, however, make frequent mention of him at this very period as stationed at Berwick, and they record no command to him to quit his official duties. At all events, he died at home, and was buried in the church of Carham, from whence, by licence of Bishop Hatfield, at the petition of Joan, his widow, his body was removed for final sepulture to the Priory of Kirkham, in Yorkshire. To the information which we already possess, relative to the battle of Neville's Cross, may be here added, with propriety, the following original letter written by the Prior to the Bishop of Durham, a few days after the conflict, and hitherto unpublished. The etymological reader will smile when he is told by the Prior that Fyndon Hill, at which the battle terminated, had been originally so called in anticipation of this very event. Fyndonne—Fyn donne—Finnus datus—for the writer is armed both with French and Latin in proof of his point:—

LITERA DIRECTA EPISCOPO DE CONFLICTU AD NEVILLE CROSS.

Reverende—Licet à personis quampluribus super his, que gesta sunt per crudelē gentē Scottorum in partibus Angliæ, paternitati vestræ, Reverende, diversas literas dirigi supponamus, cupientes tamen ad augmentum gaudii prout nos conceperimus premium fieri vestrum animum recreare, ad vestræ dominacionis auctoritatem deducimus per presentes. Scotti igitur supradicti, paulo post festum Sancti Michaelis Archangelis, in summa elacione constituti cum ea multitudine armatorum et positum cui, sicut postmodum audivimus a quibusdam de eisdem, totam gentem tam Francie quam Angliæ non credebant posse resistere, et si vires quas unanimiter conflarunt, partes Angliæ invadentes eos incendios et feralibus gladiis circumquaque, per quas tegerent transitum, crudeliter devastarunt, vix parentes sexui aut ætati, et inter mala huiusmodi que atrociter committebant in Fortalitium de Lydel cujus custodiam habuit Dominus Willielmus de Selby ceperunt interficere omnibus quotquot in eodem fuerunt inventi: postmodum vero, apud aliud Fortalitium, quod vocatur Haydenhall juxta Corbrigg Scottis se transferentibus, illud reservatâ vitâ inhabitancium redditum fuerat. Deinde vero, continuando dictas, die tali Octobris venerunt circa horam quasi nonam prope villam Dunelmæ super moram de Bello Redditu, ostendentes se per dispositas acies quasi parati unanimiter ad pugnandum. Sed statim, sine plure, et ad manerium nostrum de Bello Redditu convertébant, per noctem illam totam infra parvam, nullo eorum extra remanente sicut sub certitudine habuimus, peremerant; Venerabili Patre Domino Archiepiscopo Eboraci et tenti et omnibus sanctis ejus, et corpus meum ad sepeliendum ubi permissione divinâ contigerit ordinari. Item do et lego omnia bona mea mobilia et immobilia ubicunque fuerint inventa Johannæ uxori meæ et Rogero Corbet, ut ipsi conjunctim et divisim inde ordinent et disponant prout secundum Deum animæ meæ saluti melius viderint expedire. Volo insuper et concedo quod ipsi quibuscunque creditoribus meis et aliis quibus obligatus sum, de bonis prædictis congruè satisfaciant, ut tenentur; et debita mea quæcunque prosequantur exigant atque levant, prout secundum Deum et justitiam melius videbitur expedire. Hujus autem testamenti mei prædictos Johannam et Rogerum conjunctim et divisim, ut præmittitur, ordino, facio et constituo executores. Actum infra Castrum de Werk Dunolmensis dioceseos ix. die mensis Octobris Anno Domini Millesimo ccc. quinquagesimo nono, in presentia dictorum Johannæ et Rogeri ac Roberti Atte Milne de Werk, Johannis de Clyderhowe et Rogeri Clerc, testium ad præmissa specialiter vocatorum.

aliis Magnatibus qui cum eo fuerant, de quorum nominibus, per alios plenius quam per nos, vos credimus certiorari debere, infra parcum vestrum de Aukeland eadem nocte se collocantibus occultè. Porro, in crastino die, videlicet xvij Octobris, nostratibus usque Moram de Bello Redditu, de quo præmittitur, declinantibus, Scotti hoc audientes, se super eandem Moram juxta parcum nostrum ad pugnandum, aciebus dispositis, paraverunt: unde ab horâ quasi terciâ usque ad horam nonam remanserunt partes, vexillis erectis, inter Civitatem Dunelm. et manerium predictum de Bello Redditu, modico existente spacio inter eas, quâ quidem horâ, ad incrementum gaudii Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ populi, eadem partes utrobique durè acerbè et validè acriter conflixerunt. Sed, benedictus Altissimus in cujus manu sunt corda Regum, ac, prout si placet vulnerat et medetur, dejicit et exaltat, Scottos Anglici cum triumpho mirifico superarunt, incolis partium borialium, quos diu Scotti oppresserant, ad optatæ libertatis gaudia restituitis. In quo quidem conflictu David se dicens Regem Scociæ captus est, cum sagittâ in facie graviter vulneratus: multis vero de valentioribus totius terræ Scociæ interfectis et jacentibus super moram de Bello Redditu miserabiliter denudatis, quorum personas et numerum certitudinaliter vobis nescimus exprimere; quos tamen per alios satis habebitis expressos. Multi vero capti sunt, quorum unus, non tamen valentior sed reverâ malivolentior est, Willielmus Douglas; cujus et aliorum nomina vobis in cedulâ inclusâ presentibus destinamus. Pauci de nostris in dicto mortui sunt conflictu. Locus ille in quo bellum de quo superius fit mentio est commissum, inter civitatem Dunol mensum et quendam monticollum qui vocatur Fyndonne noscitur situari; qui quidem monticulus a quodam presagio sumpsisse nomen creditur, cum posse dicatur verisimiliter Fyndonne quasi finem dans, vel finem dandus. Nomen enim ut tenet communis opinio, discidio miserabili quod per multa annorum curricula inter Anglos et Scottos invaluit, Ipsius cooperante potentiâ quæ nullis est inclusâ limitibus, conjicitur finis dari. Brit. Mus. FAUSTINA A. 6. f. 47.

¹ According to Mr Surtees, Dean of Chester-le-Street. At all events he was Master of Kepner Hospital in 1437.

² Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Holland, Earl of Kent, and wife of Sir John Neville, son and heir apparent of Ralph, first Earl of Westmorland, married by the Prior of Durham, at Brancepeth, by special license from Bishop Skirlaw, 29th August, 1394. A subsequent bequest, in which the testator calls the Lady Elizabeth domina mea, proves that he had been, in his youth, trained up within the halls of Raby. Sir John Neville died before his father in 1423 or 4.

³ There was at this period celebrated at Canterbury, in every fiftieth year, a Jubilee in honour of Thomas à Becket. The first in order of time after the date of the will, was to take place in 1420, and thither the testator wishes to tempt Friar Oxenden by an additional legacy of 100s.

⁴ Afterwards Sir Thomas Lumley, Knight, Governor of Scarborough Castle, &c.—died in 1483.

⁵ Mr. Surtees remarks of this codicil (ii. 137) that it bears every mark of being, both in substance and expression, the genuine composition of the testator. It may be added, that it affords an excellent specimen of the strength and vigour of the English language at that period. It bears date at Melun-upon-Seine, on the 19th August, 1420, a city which the English had besieged from the 30th of July preceeding, and which was not surrendered to them till the middle of November.

¹ The word filiola seems to imply a god-daughter. The term is applied to five children, who are called after the testatrix.

² Mr Surtees, when noticing this bequest, [I. 11. 5] asks, "Did a Romance ever actually exist under this strange title? or had the Lady of Dalden met with one of Wycliffe's Bibles, and conceived the Gospels to be a series of fabulous adventures?" Perhaps nothing more is meant than the Gospels in English, of Wycliffe's translation.

We have pleasure in preserving four characteristic letters written by this ill-fated nobleman. The first, which will be read with great interest, must have been written soon after the 15th June, 1429, upon which day the Earl of Salisbury was appointed a Commissioner for the Borders. The postscript of this letter is in the Earl's own hand-writing, and the Prior would doubtless understand its meaning. The second and third are from France, the former in 1431, and the latter about the same period—the fourth, written after the Earl's return to his Castle of Middleham, refers to a dispute between Sir William Bowes and the Prior, relative to the estate of Osmondcroft, on the Tees.

It had been necessary, at an earlier period, to re-consecrate the Church of Houghton-le-Spring, for a similar reason. ¹ These Inventories contain the IMPLEMENTS and BOOKS of the College of Auckland upon the accession of Willian Thomeson to the Deanery in 1498. Early catalogues of collections of books, public or private, are always peculiarly valuable, for reasons into which we need not here enter. In this case the list will be read with great interest, as the Collegiate Church of Auckland was the School in which many of the young nobility and gentry of the North of England were educated. This fact seems to be proved by the following extract from the yearly Account Roll of Nicholas Kelchith, who was clerk of the works to Bishop Booth. "Solut' Johanni Robson carpentario, super factura ij novorum lectorum bord apud Denry ex mandato Domini pro pueris Domini ffezhw et Domini lovell ix^d." Each bed, therefore, cost 4*l* 4*s*. The sons of Lord Fitzhugh, in the above year, were Richard, then 12 years of age, and John, Thomas, George, and Edward, one or more of whom might, perhaps, be at school with their brother. The son of Lord Lovel was Francis, afterwards Lord Lovel himself, and then eight years of age.

¹ Thomas Grey, afterwards Sir Thomas Grey, of Horton, Knight, married Dorothy, daughter of Ralph Lord Ogle, and dying at his house, in Bethnal Green, London, on the 7th, was buried at St. Botolph's, Aldgate, on the 10th Aug., 1590, leaving ten daughters and coheirs, of whom Isabel, the eldest, married Sir Ralph Grey, of Chillingham, Knt., whose third son, Sir Edward Grey, was the founder of the family of Grey of Howick.

² Lionel Grey was Gentleman Porter of Berwick. His name frequently occurs in the proceedings of the Borderers.

An unpublished marriage settlement of the family of Grey, of Horton, dated in 1493, is not devoid of interest, not only as a specimen of the English language of the period, but as informing us of the marriage portion of a young lady of rank at that time. [she was of the great family of Swynhoe, of Rock Castle,] and of the means taken to secure it. The testator was, in all probability, the eldest son of this marriage.

¹ John Carr, of Hetton, in the parish of Chatton, and father of Thomas Carr, who, by his marriage with Elizabeth Heron, grand-daughter and heir of Sir William Heron, of Ford Castle, became possessed of Ford and other large estates in Northumberland. This marriage caused much commotion. The Herons of Chipchase, Meldon, &c., pretending that the Ford estates were entailed upon male heirs, proceeded, not by law, but by open violence, to eject Carr from possession. In a skirmish, arising out of this quarrel, Robert Barrow, Mayor of Berwick, lost his life under the walls of Ford Castle.

² It is very probable that the Carre of Northumberland, and the Kerrs of Cessford, in Scotland, were one and the same family.

¹ The Will and Inventory, valuable specimens of North Tynedale English at the period, are both in the same hand-writing, either that of the Testator or of the Curate of Elsdon, one of the witnesses. The name of William Hall Clerke is an interlineation. The Reeds were, and are still, a numerous clan in the parish of Elsdon. The Testator appears to have lived nearly thirty years after his will was made.

He was advanced in years, and afflicted with the gout; and the story goes, that foreseeing the result of the enterprise, although well affected to the cause, he for some time declined joining the rebels, until his wife literally forced him to mount his horse, telling him sarcastically that she had long been aware of having a fool for her husband, and that she feared he was a coward into the bargain.

¹ This was that Sir Robert Constable of most infamous memory, who, eight years afterwards, endeavoured, under the garb of friendship, to entrap the Earl of Westmorland, after the failure of his rebellion in 1569.—V. Sadler's State Papers II., 21, 57, 97, 118. A more detestable character does not pollute the pages of history. He was son and heir of Sir Marmaduke Constable, to whom the site and possessions of the Benedictine Nunnery of Nun Eaton, in Warwickshire, had been granted after the Dissolution; and at the date of the above will resided at Wallington, having married Dorothy, widow of Sir Roger Fenwick. He was at the same time owner of Nun Eaton (the Nowneton of the will), of which the husband of the Testatrix had probably been the tenant. The motives which had induced this Warwickshire lady to desert her county and friends, are partly alluded to in the will. The reasons why she appointed Sir Robt. Constable her residuary legatee, are, perhaps, for his sake as well forgotten.

¹ Thomas Sparke, a Monk of Durham—of Durham College, Oxford—B. D. 1 March, 1528–9.—Prior of Holy Island—Suffragan Bishop of Berwick upon Tweed, under Tunstall, Bishop of Durham, in 1537, by the act 26 Henry VIII.—consecrated by Lee, Archbishop of York, in the same year—Master of Gretham Hospital, in 1541—First Prebendary of the third stall in Durham Cathedral, in May, 1542—Rector of Wolsingham in 1547. His will, which is printed at length in RAINE'S NORTH DURHAM, p. 128, and which is of a very interesting nature, makes provision for his burial in Durham Cathedral, in front of the altar at which he had officiated when a Monk; but Chambre, the Durham Historian, states that his steward and executor sold the marble slab, which the Bishop had, in his life-time, prepared for the purpose of covering his remains, to one of the Prebendaries, and buried his master at Gretham. For other particulars relative to Bishop Sparke, whose name has so often occurred in the preceding pages, the reader is referred to the History of NORTH DURHAM.

 well letter to his friends before his martyrdom at Oxford, in 1555, as "my welbe-loved and worshipfull Cosin Master Nich. Ridley, of Willimotswicke." Mr. Surtees was in possession of a full pedigree of the family of Ridley, of Willimotswick, down to Musgrave Ridley, whose estate was sequestered by Parliament for his adherence to King Charles I., beneath which he has left, suo more, the following stanzas referring to the great Rebellion, and its consequences :—

" When fell the Ridley's martial line,
 Lord William's ancient towers,
 Fair Ridley on the silver Tyne,
 And sweet Thorgrafton's bowers ;

All felt the plunderer's cruel hand,
 When legal rapine through the land
 Stalk'd forth with giant stride ;
 When loyalty successful bled,
 And truth and honour vainly sped
 Against misfortune's tide."

¹ John Billingham, of Crook Hall, in the suburbs of Durham, married first Alice, daughter of Ralph Claxton, of Wynyard, Esq., and secondly, Elizabeth, daughter of Roger Swinburne, of Edlingham, Esq., and widow of John Hall, of Conset. The Billinghams of Crook Hall, were descended from John the Cour-lard, of Billingham, who had the luck to marry a sister of Richard Kellaw, Bishop of Durham, in the time of Edward II. From this period the family assumed the local name of Billingham, and settled at Crook Hall, where, until the year 1667, they resided, and ranked among the principal gentry of the county.

¹ THE HALL. A stone dressing table, a long wooden table and dressers and carpet cloth are mentioned, and green hangings, and a spear, staff, and black bull are mentioned in store. It is used as a wash house and lumber room. Its roof and windows were probably built later than the reign of Edward III. This Inventory is particularly valuable for the light which it throws upon the domestic economy of a person of this rank at the period. The deceased farmed a portion of his own land. He grew his own corn, and he heckled, or combed, and then spun his own flax and wool; he killed his own beef, and there are numerous other curious inferences to be drawn from this document.

¹ This person seems to have retired from a military life, with his spear-staves and banners and "ancients," and other armour all enumerated, to farm the estate of "Sackerstone hughe," h^{is}lie Saggerston brugh, a rectory partly derived from its situation, and partly from the Sacrist of Durham, to whom office it was appropriated before the Dissolution. One would like to know what were the "small Englishe bookes" in which he occasionally amused himself, and which were valued at only 3s. 4d. He once had a taste for music, as appears by his "sile gyttrone" and his "broken gyttrone."

THE SURTEES SOCIETY.

Copy of a Letter, explaining the objects of the Society, circulated with the outlines of its proposed Rules, as agreed upon at a Preliminary Meeting held on the 17th of April, 1834, subject to the revision and amendments of the Meeting of the 27th of May following [1834], when the Society was to be established :—

SIR,

Several Gentlemen of literary character, personal friends of the late ROBERT SURTEES, of Mainsforth, Esq. the Author of the splendid and elaborate History of the County Palatine of Durham, of which three volumes are already published, and the fourth far advanced in the press, have requested me, as the intimate friend of Mr. Surtees for the last twenty years, his coadjutor in the Topography of the Palatinate, and the person solicited by Mrs. Surtees to complete the History which he has left imperfect, to transmit to you the preceding outlines of the Rules of a Society which they are anxious to establish in honor of his name. They are of opinion, that the foundation of a Society of the above nature, and for the above purposes, would be the best mode of evincing their respect for the Memory of one not more distinguished for his talents and attainments, than for his exalted character as an English gentleman. They conceive that a monument of this nature, combining a permanency more durable than brass or marble, with a purpose of great public utility, will the most strongly express their grief for the loss which they and the general cause of literature have sustained, and best accord with the feelings of him whom they lament, knowing, as they do, that if he had survived the completion of the work in which he was engaged, it was his intention to devote a portion of his time to the publication of more than one Manuscript comprised within their plan, now, like the other valuable Authors which they propose to bring to light, buried in the public or private libraries of the kingdom.

To illustrate very briefly the nature of the object they have in view, in order that some opinion may be formed of its utility, they beg to point out to public notice a very few only of the hitherto inedited Manuscripts connected with Durham abbe.— MSS. which, in these times, few individuals would incur the risk of printing at their own cost; but which, nevertheless, afford even singly, how much more so collectively, the most valuable materials to those who are anxious to study rightly the History of our forefathers, under its different characters.

I. The Saxon Interlineation of the Latin Ritual of Alfred, King of Northumberland, 866-705, upon which Warton has bestowed so much attention; a Hike's Thesaurus, and which has never yet been printed. There never was a time when greater attention was paid to the Saxon Language, as the very foundation of the English tongue, than at the present day; and yet this book, with all the additions it can make to the glossary of its period, is totally unknown to the philologist.

II. The Saxon interlinear of the Vulgate N. T. of Cuthbert, Bishop of Lindisfarne, (665-688) equally valuable and equally unknown.

III. Bele.—Oh. Anno 735. Of the various writings of this Venerable Author, printed in the collected edition of his Works, many, it is believed, are not his; but at all events, there are at least ten of his Treatises which have not hitherto been given to the public. The name of Bele requires no comment.

IV. The Liturgy of the B&K Breviary to the Church of Durham from its foundation at Lindisfarne to the Dissolution; written in its earlier pages in letters of gold and silver, and preserved in the British Museum, containing a mass of the most interesting information.

V. The Prose and Poetical Works of Laurence, Prior of Durham, who died in 1154.

VI. The History of Reginald, a Monk of Durham, who flourished in the middle of the twelfth century. This Author professes to write a continuation of the Miracles of St. Cuthbert, as an Appendix to those recorded by Bede, and in so doing, is recording much of the popular credulity of his day with respect to miracles, but, save a very few other cases, is giving nothing very new. Indeed, the work is a translation of a Latin work of general History.

All the volumes catalogued in the Manuscript Library of the Church of Durham and its College, in the name of Richard the Second to the Present, are such documents as were acquired by direct measure, or otherwise, of the library of those Kings.

VIII. The Journal of the History of Mathematics, published by the American Mathematical Society, 1970-1976.

IN A — The first Melchizedek, different from the Shrine of E. C. Christ, the earliest recorded instance till the abolition of sanctuary.
B — The same Melchizedek. A reference to the shrine = old of records.

throw great light upon the comparative prevalence of crime and the general state of society of the north of England, during the period over which it extends.

X. The Meditations of Ughtred, a Monk of Durham, during his solitary life upon Farne Island, in the thirteenth century.

In drawing up the above brief list of inedited Authors or Documents, by way of specimen of the objects contemplated by the Society, Durham alone has been taken into consideration: and even with respect to Durham, there is much unpublished matter not here noticed. When the wide field embraced by the Society is considered, it will be manifest, that there can be no apprehension of a lack of Authors, of equal or superior importance, to engage its notice.

If it should be your wish, as a personal friend of the late Mr. Surtees, or as a favourer of the general cause of Literature, to promote the object we have in view, by becoming a Member of our proposed Society, may I beg leave to hear from you at your earliest convenience to that effect, and to solicit your attendance at Durham on the 27th of May next. If you should be unable to comply with the latter part of my request, any alterations in our proposed Rules, which you may deem it expedient to suggest to me, will be carefully taken into consideration.

I have the honour to remain,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

JAMES RAINE.

RULES, &c.

A MEETING was held at the QUEEN'S HEAD INN, DURHAM, at one o'clock P.M., on TUESDAY, the 27th of May, 1834, JOHN RALPH FENWICK, Esq., M.D., in the Chair, for the Establishment of a LITERARY SOCIETY, to be called

THE SURTEES SOCIETY,

In honour of the late ROBERT SURTEES, of Mainsforth, Esquire, the Author of the History of the County Palatine of Durham, and in accordance with his pursuits and plans; to have for its object the Publication of inedited Manuscripts, illustrative of the intellectual, the moral, the religious, and the social condition of those parts of England and Scotland, included on the East between the Humber and the Frith of Forth, and on the West between the Mersey and the Clyde, a region which constituted the Antient Kingdom of Northumberland. The following Rules were then agreed upon:

THE SURTEES SOCIETY

I. Shall consist of an unlimited number of Members, out of whom shall be triennially elected a President, twelve Vice-Presidents, two Treasurers, and a Secretary, who shall constitute the Council. Of this number five, including the Secretary and one of the Treasurers, shall be capable of acting as a majority. The President shall be ineligible a second time until three years shall have elapsed from his departure from the office. The other Members of the Council shall be capable of being re-elected.

II. The Officers of the Society shall be elected at each Third Annual Meeting. Any vacancy which may occur in the Offices of Treasurer or Secretary shall be provisionally filled up by the Council.

III. Those gentlemen who have assented, or do now assent, to the general principle of the proposed Rules and Regulations, and have signified their wish to become Members shall be deemed Original Members of the Society. In the course of the next year, to wit, on or about the 17th of May, 1835, Mr. Harre, at the request of the Council, will convene a Meeting at the Office of the Secretary, at which time the names of the Original Members will be read, and the names of all those who are desirous of becoming Members will be received till the 1st of July next.

The Society's first Members shall be elected by Ballot at the Anniversary, and the names of those who are proposed by a Member in a letter, post paid, addressed to the Secretary, by mail, shall be the list of nominees. The Members present at the Anniversary shall alone be entitled to vote. One black ball in ten shall exclude.

V. Each Member shall pay to the Treasurers an Annual Subscription of two guineas in advance. The sum so raised shall be expended in transcribing and publishing, in a closely-printed octavo form, such inedited Manuscripts as illustrate the intellectual, the moral, the religious, and the social condition of those parts of England and Scotland, included within the above lines of demarcation, from the earliest period to the time of the Restoration,—every thing, in short, which has a tendency to throw light upon the mind, the morals, or the habits of our ancestors. No apartments shall be hired, except for the Annual Meeting. No collection of Books or of any other nature shall be formed. The Subscriptions, and the money arising from the sale of Books under a subsequent Rule, shall be solely devoted to the transcribing of MSS, the expenses of the press, and other incidental expenses.

VI. The Council shall itself supply matter for the press for the first year. Afterwards it shall annually call upon twenty Members, in alphabetical order, for notices of MSS. which they who are applied to would recommend to be printed. These notices shall be sent to the Secretary within a prescribed time, accompanied by the Manuscript itself, or an analysis of its contents. But in no instance shall any Member be applied to by the Council a second time until each Member shall have had an opportunity of recommending a MS. or of waiving his turn.

VII. No MS. shall be sent to the press by the Council, without the sanction of a majority of the Members. In order to obtain this sanction, the Council shall, by their Secretary, transmit to each Member, upon a single sheet, a condensed printed account of the various analyses which have been submitted for consideration. This sheet each Member will return to the Secretary, with a mark in the margin opposite to those MSS. of which he approves the publication. The Council may, if it think fit, point out, as a matter of opinion, such in particular as it approves. The votes of Members, who return no answer, shall be at the disposal of the Council. When there is a deficiency of matter in any year, that deficiency shall be supplied by the Council.

VIII. The expense of transcribing for the press every MS. of which the publication is determined upon, under the above Rules, shall be defrayed by the Society, if the Member by whom it has been proposed should require it.

IX. No matter shall be printed in connection with any MS. save what is necessary for its illustration. A short biographical account of its Author, and brief Notes illustrative of his phraseology, and of the customs and manners and opinions of his time, will be permitted to a reasonable extent, with the modern names of the places which he mentions, and occasional notices of persons who occur in his writings. The Council shall have a discretionary power of rejecting any additions of the contributor which do not, in their opinion, come within these limitations.

X. The number of copies of each publication shall be regulated by the Council. Of these one shall be given to each Member, whose subscription is not in arrear. The rest, of which the Council shall in each case determine the number, shall be sold at the price it shall appoint. The money raised by sale to go to the general fund.

XI. The Armorial Bearings of Mr. Surtees and some other characteristic decoration connecting the Society with his name, shall be used in each publication. These embellishments shall be determined upon by the Council.

XII. The selection of a Printer and Publisher shall be left to the Council.

XIII. A List of Officers and Members, with an account of the receipts, expenses, and general proceedings of the Society, shall be annually printed, of an uniform size with its publications, and transmitted to each Member.

XIV. An Anniversary shall be held in Durham, on the second Tuesday in July, in each year, for the regulation of the affairs of the Society. The first Anniversary to be held on the second Tuesday in July, 1835. The Council shall have the power of calling extraordinary Meetings.

XV. The Society shall be answerable for no expenses which may be incurred at the Anniversary Meetings, save the hire of a Room for the transaction of its business.

XVI. No alterations shall be made in these Rules, except at an Anniversary Meeting. Three months' notice of the alterations proposed shall be submitted to each Member.

SURTEES SOCIETY,

READ AT THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY HELD AT THE WATERLOO
HOTEL, DURHAM, JULY 14, 1885,
GEORGE TAYLOR, ESQ., VICE-PRESIDENT, IN THE CHAIR, AND ORDERED TO BE PRINTED.

THE Council of the Surtees Society beg to lay before its Members the following particulars relative to the state and prospects of the Institution, in compliance with its 13th rule.

The present state of the Society is in every respect of the most gratifying and encouraging nature. When its institution was first proposed, although it combined the object of doing honour to the memory of a gentleman who had most disinterestedly and successfully devoted his rare talents and acquirements to the benefit of the public, with a plan of great public utility, long contemplated by himself, yet, even with these purposes in view, the most sanguine of its promoters did not feel themselves justified in anticipating for the first year that more than fifty members would join their intended Society. That they had greatly under-rated the extent of respectful feeling for the memory of Mr. Surtees, which existed among his personal friends and acquaintances, and the anxiety of those who had not known him to co-operate with them in paying a public and most characteristic tribute of respect to the memory of one to whom such a tribute was most pre-eminently due, by benefiting at the same time the literary public at large, has been abundantly proved. The anticipated number of Members has been more than doubled. The Society, even in the very first year of its existence, has upon its list one hundred and seven Members, many of them ranking among the very highest literary characters in the kingdom ; and its Council have great pleasure in announcing that there are not fewer than twenty-five candidates for admission this day, all of whom are influenced by the same deep feeling of respect for the memory of Mr. Surtees, and the same anxiety to promote the great public purpose which the Society has in view.

When the nature of the two main objects of the Society is considered, its Council cannot refrain from expressing their confidence that its numbers will continue to increase, and its usefulness be, in consequence, promoted. The field, of which it has taken possession, has been hitherto totally unoccupied by any past or present association of literary men ; and that a most abundant harvest may be reaped, even within the limits which it has prescribed to itself, will be manifest to any one acquainted with the Manuscript Catalogues of the public or private Libraries of the Kingdom. The objects which it embraces are of so general a nature, and the authors whose works come within its rules are so numerous and important, that there is no one single department of literature which may not eventually be benefited by its labours. The appellation of an Antiquarian Society, which has in more than one instance been applied to it by persons who appear not to comprehend and appreciate its real objects, it unequivocally rejects, in the usual acceptation of the term. It aims at men and manners, and leaves the painful and seldom appreciated County Historian or Parochial Topographer in full occupation of his field. It meddles not with descent of property and blood, or with heraldic or numismatic lore. It does not despise these auxiliary aids in the elucidation of historic or moral truth ; on the contrary, it will avail itself of their assistance when need may require—but such investigations as constitute the leading object of our various Societies of Antiquaries, form no part of its plan. Neither can its proceedings interfere with those of the Record Commission, the object of which is to make known, under the authority of Government, the substance has been added, which, it is hoped, will sufficiently explain such terms as may be new to those versed only in pure latinity. Indexes of men and places have been subjoined; and the apology for the imperfections of his compilation, which Reginald thought it necessary to make to the venerable Abbot of Rievaulx, to whom he dedicated it, let him now make to the world; and let him hope for the same favourable judgment on the merits of his performance which he doubtless received at the hands of Ethelred.

"De quibus omnibus," says he, "compacto libello, vobis transcurrendum transmittimus, et vestro examini propriè reservavimus. Erit igitur vestræ providentiæ, minis decenter detecta immutando polire, deficientia vel omissa replendo substituere, superstitiosa vel pervacua delendo desiccare, singula æquæ discretionis modulamine ponderare. Quæ vero vobis complacuerint, testificando veritati certiora efficere; quæ autem in beneplacito vestro non seclerint, moderato æquitatis libramine cõplanando corrigere."

The selection of Wills is so far advanced in the press, that it will be completed in three weeks, and the public will be put in possession of a series of the most authentic documents, abounding with the most valuable and novel information. The volume commences with the year 1095, and comes down to the year 1580. It will consist of about four hundred and thirty pages, three hundred and fifty of which are already printed; a brief temporary Introduction will be given along with it, drawing the attention of the reader to some of the more important matters which it elucidates; and an Index of Testators, &c. will be appended. These arrangements are made, partly because there will be no time for more minute and copious details and indexes, but chiefly because it is hoped by the Council that the proposal to continue the series of Wills and Inventories down to the year 1660, made by Mr. Allan, one of its Members, may eventually be carried into effect, when a general Preface, a full abstract weighty considerations for exertion; and they cannot refrain from expressing a confident hope, founded upon the encouragement which the Society has already received, and the progress which it has made, that the time may arrive when its funds may justify the extension of its operations, and when, no longer confined to the Saxon Kingdom of Northumberland, it may consider the whole of Britain as the field of its labours.

From these anticipations of the future, the Council call the attention of the Members of the Society to the matter of fact proceedings of the year which this day closes.

At a meeting of the Council, to whom the sixth rule gives the selection of the first year's publications, held on the 4th of December last, it was "determined that

"Four hundred copies of a MS., hitherto unpublished, entitled 'Reginaldi Monachi Dunelmensis de admirandis Beati Cuthberti virtutibus quæ novellis patratæ sunt temporibus,' be printed by the Society, the manuscript to be transcribed for the press under the direction of the Secretary, and at the expense of the Society." And it was also "ordered

"That four hundred copies of a selection from unpublished Wills and Inventories, of all classes of persons, from the eleventh century downwards, illustrating the History, Manners, Language, Statistics, &c., of their respective periods, to be transcribed under the superintendence of the Secretary, be also printed."

The first of these orders has been carried into full effect. Reginald the Monk is now public property, and whatever he contains of historical, or otherwise valuable matter, is before the world. The Council do not deem it necessary to draw the attention of the Society more particularly to the matters of history or fact detailed in this volume, as they are concisely alluded to in the Preface, which it has been considered expedient to prefix to it, and are still more minutely specified in an appended abstract of each chapter. With respect to the archaisms of our author, and other matter interesting to the Philologist, a Glossary

After presenting these statements relative to the proceedings of the Society during the first year of its existence, the Council, in conclusion, pledge themselves to make every exertion in their power towards carrying into full effect, as far as they are concerned, the two-fold object contemplated in its establishment—the doing honour to the memory of Mr. Surtees, by publishing, in accordance with his intentions and plans, such ancient and hitherto unedited Authors as tend to illustrate the intellectual, the moral, the religious, and the social condition of our ancestors within the period and limits prescribed.

Durham, July 13, 1835.

* The Surtees Society has been informed by Thomas Widdows Esq. that one of its members, for the purpose of illustrating the history of the County of Durham, has been engaged by Mr. Dyfield to engrave the title page of the Society's first volume, and that the engraving is now in the hands of the artist. The engraving is now in the hands of the artist.
